HOW TO READ THIS REPORT

Every ballot follows the same path: a registered voter is issued a ballot; returned ballots are either accepted or rejected; accepted ballots are sent to be counted; and the tabulator (or hand count) reports how many were counted. Reconciliation means confirming the numbers at each step agree. The tables below follow that path, compare what the county should have against what it actually has, and flag any difference in orange for explanation.

THE BALLOT JOURNEY (county totals)

RECONCILIATION CHECKS

Check	Expected	Reported	Difference	Difference % of expected	Status	Why it matters
Ballots on hand = ballots accepted for count	1,175	1,175	0	0.0%	BALANCED	Confirms the county physically holds exactly the ballots that were accepted and not rejected.
Tabulated / hand-counted = counted by type	1,175	1,175	0	0.0%	BALANCED	Confirms the machine (or hand) count agrees with the poll + absentee + provisional breakdown.
Ballots issued do not exceed registered voters	1,610	1,380	-230	-14.3%	OK	More ballots than voters would signal duplicate issuance. Difference shown as issued minus registered (negative is normal).
Test ballots: used ≤ printed	32	32	0	0.0%	OK	Logic-and-accuracy test decks must be fully accounted for so no test ballot can be mistaken for a live one.
Precincts marked reconciled	4	4	0	0.0%	BALANCED	Each precinct row is signed off by the county once its numbers balance or its differences are explained.

TEST BALLOTS (LOGIC & ACCURACY) — 13-15-113(1)(f)

Metric	Count
Test ballots printed	32
Used for testing	32
Counted in public test	32

Before every election the county runs a public test of its tabulators using a known deck of test ballots. Counties that hand-count do not test a tabulator and report zeros here.
